GLIDDEN TOUR STOPS AT LOCAL MUSEUM TODAY

If ancient machinery could talk—the conversation would have been highly interesting just north of here this afternoon.

For the ancient autos and the buggies they ran off the road were gathered, cranked to tongue, at the Conte Horse 'N' Buggy Museum, just north of here on the Harrisburg Rd. while the 1,200 persons making the annual Glidden Tour in 350 ancient autos dined amidst the relics of the horse age their mechanized steeds had put out of business.

The luncheon was provided by the Gettysburg Region of the Antique Auto Association—some of the members of which were among the drivers and passengers in the ancient cars making the trip today from Washington, D. C., to Hershey, Pa.

1901 Knox Is Oldest

Garbed in the finery of the early automobile era, the Antique Auto Club members and their passengers were able frequently to trace the lineage of their prize vehicles as they viewed the horse drawn vehicles at the museum here and noted that many of the buggies may have been on the road when auto driven by the antique car owners first braved the dust of the highways at the turn of the century.

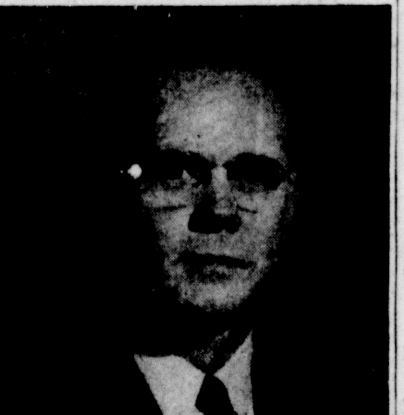

Oldest of the cars in the tour is a 1901 Knox, a three-wheeled buggy-like vehicle that has a top speed of 18 miles per hour. But that was fast enough to get its owner, Robert Johnson of South Bradley, Mass., from his home to Luray, Va., and around and about through Virginia, to Washington and to Gettysburg as part of the tour. A number of one-cylinder Oldsmobiles of 1902, 1903 are also among the 350 old cars—the youngest of which dates back to 1929.

DADS WILL BE CAMPUS GUESTS FOR WEEKEND

Gettysburg College is planning special activities in connection with two forthcoming "weekends."

Saturday, in connection with the "Fathers Day Weekend" at the school, the band will present a special display at halftime during game, and a special play "On the Bidge at Midnight" will be presented Saturday night in the gymnasium.

On November 1, in connection with the annual Homecoming Weekend, the students are planning their annual Homecoming parade through the town and a pep rally. The floats this year will be on the 125th Anniversary.

To Honor Dads

This Saturday afternoon, during the halftime at the game the college band will form a "Bullet" and will play "Mr. Touchdown." Then the unit will proceed into a staggered line precision drill winding up with the band forming the outline of a man in honor of "Dad."

The annual award to the "father of the year" will be made during halftime at the football game. The selection by a committee of the father to receive the Henry W. A. Hanson Jr. trophy is not announced in advance.

The play Saturday night will be a melodrama, with costuming from the period of the 1880s and the cast hopes the audience will enter into the spirit of the 1880s as well and respond with appropriate cheers and groans as was the custom when the melodrama was a favorite form of entertainment. Pre-Trial Conferences, Extra Jurors To Be Used In November

Two new procedures will be initiated in Adams County court next month because of the record 14-case civil trial list slated for November court, it was disclosed by Judge W. C. Sheely Thursday afternoon.

Pre-trial conferences, provided for under new rules of Civil Procedure in the courts of this state but never before used in this county, will be instituted and a precept for the drawing of 20 extra jurors will be handed down.

The 20 extra jurors will be summoned for Monday, November 18, the second week of court when civil trials ordinarily are scheduled to be tried. The court term opens with criminal trials on November 12. The regular panel of 48 petit jurors will be boosted to 68 so that a visiting judge may be brought in—as has been done several times in the past when criminal trials have been unusually heavy—and two courts operated if they are needed.

Conferences Nov. 1

Attorneys involved in the 14 civil cases for jury trial in November are being notified of a schedule for pre-trial conferences to be held throughout the day on Friday, November 1. A half hour will be assigned to each case. Clients may attend if they wish.

At these conferences counsel and the court will review the issues in each case, limit the issues to be placed before the jury, go over the exhibits, decide which are admissible and mark them—all procedures which take up time during trials.

Experience in other courts shows that some cases may be settled during or following the pre-trial conferences, thus reducing the trial list.

Judge Sheely explained that these special steps are being taken in an effort to make it possible for Adams County courts to continue to dispose of each trial list at each term of court, instead of running out of time and continuing untried cases. (Continued On Page 7)

"Sell Out" On Doe Licenses In County

County Treasurer Jacob G. Appler today issued the last of the 2,200 doe licenses assigned to Adams County for the forthcoming hunting season.

The last sale was made shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, and Adams joined the ranks of other counties where the "out of business" sign has been hung on the doe license department because of the heavy demand for such permits.

Treasurer Appler said that during customers for doe licenses have the last few days many of his been men from York and other counties who were unable to obtain the permits in their own areas because the supplies had been depleted there.

In addition to the 2,200 doe licenses, 1,800 regular season licenses permitting the killing of buck have been granted so far. The treasurer has 311 regular season licenses on hand at the moment, but can order additional supplies from the state if needed.

Russians Lowered Flag On Alaska 90 Years Ago Today

SITKA, Alaska (P)—On a cool afternoon just 90 years ago today the Russians lowered their flag on this continent, giving up the huge and strategic territory of Alaska to the United States.

Alaskans from Gov. Mike Stepovich on down are celebrating the anniversary today.

The hard-pressed Russians handed it over for $7,200,000 in 1867. The deal was greeted with much grumbling in the States.

The 586,400 square miles, more than twice the size of Texas, was dubbed Seward's Icebox—a reference to the climate and Secretary of State William Henry Seward, who negotiated the purchase.

Odd Incident
The formal transfer took place in the Sitka trading post founded in 1799 by Alexander Baranoff, sent to Alaska by the Czar to conquer the Pacific outpost.

The formal ceremony of transfer was marred by an odd incident, reported officially to President Johnson. It occurred at the post's 90-foot flagpole while troops from the two nations stood by and gazed in salute.

Today the territory is ringed by an electronic fence designed to warn this country if Russia or any other nation should attempt a hostile move on North American shores.

The cost of the electronic fence alone is many times $7,200,000. The value of the territory's gold, furs and fish is far greater than that too—in almost any year since the turn of the century.

85 GHS PUPILS WRITE ESSAYS IN 'VOICE' CONTEST

Eighty-five Gettysburg Senior High School students have written essays in the annual "Voice Of Democracy" contest held by the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, Magnus Flaws Jr., president of the local Jaycees, said today.

From the 85 essays on the theme "I Speak For Democracy," ten will be selected and the writers of the essays will turn them into five-minute scripts for broadcasting. On Tuesday, November 19, the authors of the ten best scripts will tape record them at WGOT.

Local Judges Will Listen To the tape recordings on November 22 to select the first, second, and third place winners.

Fifth Year For Contest

This is the fifth year the Gettysburg Jaycees have conducted a "Voice Of Democracy" contest and marks the 11th year that the Junior Chamber of Commerce has held such a contest on a nationwide scale. The judging is always done from tape recordings "so that the judges cannot identify the contestants," Flaws said.

Flaws explained that the "Voice Of Democracy" contest is a "procedure encouraging high school age young people to think about our system of government, to weigh the blessings and opportunities of this system and speak affirmatively in its behalf."

Mrs. Edward Baskerville and Edwin Longenecker are conducting the project for the Jaycees at the school. The program is sponsored by the Jaycees, with Donald Becker as chairman of the committee in charge, in cooperation with Guile W. Lelever, principal of Gettysburg High School, and Parker H. Cunningham, manager of WGOT.

$5,000 GIVEN TO HOSPITAL FUND BY LOCAL FIRMS

Two Gettysburg companies have added $5,000 to the Annie M. Warner Hospital building fund in subscriptions reported today by Richard W. Livingston, chairman of the corporation committee.

The Gettysburg Times has subscribed $3,000 and the Hotel Gettysburg, $2,000, Livingston said. In each instance the amount of the subscription is in excess of the corporations formula which the chairman described as "a yardstick offered by our committee to industrial and commercial employers of 25 or more to measure their share of the $350,000 fund now being sought for additions at Warner Hospital.

"Personnel of these companies have long been active in the affairs of Warner Hospital," the companies have consistently contributed to the hospital's appeals for financial assistance. It is not surprising, therefore, to find them among the first to respond to this, the largest objective in the hospital's 36-year history.

"Boon To Management"

Livingston described the corporations formula as a boon to management when such an appeal is considered by the company's board of directors. "In the case of an employer the health and welfare of his employees and their dependents is a matter of primary concern, in addition to the welfare of the entire community. Therefore, because the cost of hospital construction per employee can be estimated in an exact mathematical equation, the formula offered corporate subscribers by our committee gives the employer the advantage of calculating his responsibility in terms of the actual amount the hospital will spend to build facilities for their use," the chairman concluded.

A new South wing to be added at Warner Hospital through the present fund will add 25 greatly needed beds in private and semi-private rooms. There will be completely new kitchen and new power plant.

DEFENDS YANK AGAINST JAP IN GI'S TRIAL

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

MAEBASHI, Japan (U) — An American officer today pictured a key prosecution witness against GI William S. Girard as a trouble-maker who tried to coach other witnesses in their stories.

Lt. Col. Walter C. Sharp, testifying in the Ottawa, Ill., soldier's Japanese manslaughter trial, made the accusations against Hideo Onozeki. Onozeki has testified Girard lured Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, closer on the firing range last Jan. 30, then shot and killed her.

Girard admits firing the fatal shot—an empty cartridge from a grenade launcher—but claims it hit Mrs. Sakai by accident.

Sharp, Girard's battalion commander from Beach Haven, N.J., said while he was questioning a witness on the Army firing range, Onozeki and other collectors of scrap brass "tried to get him to change his story."

Jap Was Arrogant
Sharp said Onozeki spoke to other witnesses and was "arrogant" earlier when other brass collectors were being shooed away. He said he thought Onozeki was trying to set an example for the others.

"I put Onozeki further away from the rest of the Japanese so he could no longer talk with them," Sharp told the court.

The officer supported the argument of defense lawyer Isuro Hayashi that Girard, guarding a machine gun, was acting in the line of duty when he tried to chase away the scavengers. He added it was permissible to use weapons to guard Army property.

"When a soldier is on guard duty, formal or otherwise, he must carry out his orders," said Sharp. "He must, of course, use his own judgment. Whether it is good or not is something beside the point."

Hayashi contends that because the young Illinois soldiers was on duty, Japan has no jurisdiction over the case and it should be thrown out of court.

PINAY REQUEST MAY BE DENIED

PARIS (U)—Antoine Pinay asked the National Assembly today to confirm him as France's 24th postwar premier. The rightist independent seemed to face almost certain defeat.

The deputies gave a particularly chilly reception to his demand for special one-year powers to fight the financial crisis and for immediate constitutional reform giving the government the right to dissolve Parliament after it is defeated on a simple majority.

A Communist call for nationwide demonstrations yesterday against the government's war on Algerian rebels went largely unheeded.

Father Of Six Is Held In Fatality

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (U)—A father of six pleaded innocent yesterday to a manslaughter charge in the hit-run auto death of a father of nine.

Frank S. Casella, 37, 30 Holmes St., was released in $3,500 bail at a hearing here.

Three men, relatives of Casella, were released in $1,000 bail each as material witnesses.

The three, police said, were passing last Monday in the station wagon driven by Casella which hit William Blinde, 57, who boarded at 172 Broughton St. Blinde, an employee of the Westinghouse Lamp Division at Bloomfield, lived in Pleasant Mount, Pa.

Police said Blinde's body was dragged 200 feet by the car. He suffered a fractured skull.

$183 MILLIONS WILL BE SPENT ON MISSILES

WASHINGTON (U)—The Air Force today announced contracts totaling more than $183 million for producing components of the Thor intermediate and the Titan intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The announcement said that the contracts involved no new funds but signified formal confirmation of earlier agreements.

The Western Electric Co. received the largest of the contracts for $104,192,000 for radio inertial guidance for the Titan and Thor. The work will be done by the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Whippany, N.J.

Aerojet General Corp. of Sacramento, Calif., received a contract for $55,650,000 for propulsion units of the Titan missile; and Remington Rand Univac of St. Paul, was awarded a $24-million-dollar contract for a Univac computer to be used for the Titan.

5,000-Mile Range
The Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md., is the prime contractor for Titan, the 5,000-mile range ballistic missile under development.

The Atlas, also an intercontinental missile, is farther along than Titan and has undergone preliminary, but so far none-too-successful test firings from the Patrick Air Force Base in Florida.

The Thor is competing with the Army's Jupiter for selection as America's 1,500-mile range ballistic missile. Both weapons have been test-fired in Florida and both have demonstrated range, guidance and performance successes.

The Douglas Aircraft Co. is the manufacturer of the Thor airframe. North American Aviation has provided rocket engines for both Thor and Jupiter.

MARIE WILSON SURRENDERS HER "ADOPTED" BABY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Marie Wilson, her cheeks wet with tears, reluctantly gave up her baby to the child's natural mother.

The unwed mother, pretty Linda Leabow, a 21-year-old UCLA coed, took a long look at her daughter yesterday and said softly: "Ah, baby—I love you."

Miss Wilson and her husband, television producer Bob Fallon, turned over 3½-month-old Christine at a doctor's office shortly after they decided not to fight to retain custody of the child.

The Fallons and Miss Leabow did not meet. The physician, Dr. Gilbert Jorgensen, took the baby from Miss Wilson's arms in one room, then placed her in the arms of Miss Leabow, waiting in an adjoining room.

Feared Further Grief
Earlier, the Fallons issued a statement saying that he believed "further airing of this incident in court would only make a legal football out of an innocent baby and cause further grief to everyone concerned." They had been caring for the little girl—planning to adopt her—since shortly after her birth.

The mother had agreed before the child was born to give the Fallons custody, but she later changed her mind and said she would fight any adoption attempt.

After Christine had been turned over to her mother, Miss Wilson and Fallon returned to their Hollywood Hills home and to their previously adopted son, Gregson, 2.

"We still want more children," Fallon said.

Hope To Reach Everyone
Mr. Webster said a number of persons have called to say they have not yet been solicited for their donations. Solicitors are promptly sent to collect donations from those persons but Mr. Webster pointed out that not all of the residential solicitors have completed their lists and that lists may include every resident of the community.

"The solicitors are busy people taking time out from crowded schedules to do this soliciting as rapidly as they can. We all realize the importance of contacting every resident of the community for we must have everyone's help if we are to reach our goal."

Persons who may be missed by solicitors are urged to bring or send their contributions to the L. E. Smith News agency on N. Stratton St. any day from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. or they may call Mr. Webster at 178 or 303-X and arrangements will be made for a solicitor to call.

Berwager, Ralph D. Bowman, Thomas Devine, John Menges, Ira Fuhrman, Paul Wildasin, F. R. Bigham and Charles E. Ritter.

The last rites were in charge of John Wildasin, worshipful master; Robert Miller, senior warden; Lloyd Harner, junior warden, and Mark J. Miller, chaplain.

HOMEMAKERS AT CASHTOWN

Fourteen Adams County homemakers' groups were represented Wednesday at a local leaders' training session at the Cashtown Community Hall.

Miss Louise Hamilton, associate professor at Pennsylvania State University, conducted the meeting at which the leaders learned the making of special "Holiday Breads." They will in turn outline the procedures for the bread making at meetings of their own groups in the near future.

Wednesday each group made "stollen," a German bread used at holiday times. Miss Hamilton also demonstrated the making of "apple streusel" and "orange honey buns." She told the group that enriched breads, besides giving food energy, also provide "a good supply of vitamins, minerals and proteins. Milk solids in breads are also a source of calcium for humans."

The local leaders representing their groups at the meeting included Mrs. Guy King and Mrs. Hazel Deatrick, Alloway Club; Mrs. Harry Kunkel and Mrs. Francis McClell, South Mountain; Mrs. E. C. Zinn and Mrs. Willis Yeagy, New Oxford; Mrs. Thomas Newman and Mrs. William Rombin, Fairfield; Mrs. Owen H. Bucher, Cashtown; Mrs. Walter O. Powell, Battlefield; Mrs. Walter Ryman and Mrs. Merritt Rouzer, Butler Twp.; Mrs. John W. Schwartz, Barlow Evening; Mrs. Earlington Schriver and Mrs. Howard Waybright, Barlow Afternoon; Mrs. Erwin Rebert and Mrs. Emory Gitt, Littlestown; Mrs. Fred Hartlaub and Mrs. Aaron Rohrbach, Frogton; Mrs. Clair Hewitt and Mrs. Perdita Topp, Conewago; Mrs. Charles B. Spicer and Mrs. Paul Spicer, Harrisburg Rd., and Mrs. Earl Brandon, Marsh Creek.

Post Office Workers Set Bond Record: Employees in Adams county's 21 post offices are setting an enviable record in their regular purchases of U. S. War stamps and bonds — a record that possibly tops any other group of employees in the county.

The postal employees, headed by C. A. Williams, Gettysburg postmaster and chairman of the postal employees group in the county war bond and stamp sales organization, are contributing approximately 15 per cent of their monthly wages to the purchase of bonds and stamps.

Records of Paul D. Thomas, Adams county payroll savings committee chairman, show that the average for county-wide payroll deductions is from six to seven per cent for the more than 2,000 workers in Adams county buying bonds and stamps on the payroll deduction plan.

Recreation Board Elects Officers:
Officers to serve the Gettysburg

Today's Talk

CONFIDENCE

Confidence is a simple word, but its influence, as applied, is worldwide. It enters into our daily lives and forms a structure that is as solid as the rock of Gibraltar!

What would happen if there were never any confidence in anything or any person?

How long do you think we would care to hold a friend in whom we had no confidence? It's the confidence that people have in their government, and in the great enterprises that have established commerce throughout the world, that has made for all the magic growth of the United States, and enterprises into which the smallest of investors have joined the larger ones.

Confidence in our leaders, our thinkers, our planners, and our dreamers has given courage and faith, without which we would not have the blessings and comforts that we do. Confidence in our fellow man, in God, and finally, always, in ourselves, we hope and pray may be the path to peace and good will all over this great earth!

When you note the great sums of money that investors are making in the future of the world, you know that confidence is no idle dream. Never in all history has there been so much done to bring security and happiness to so many. Confidence is threaded into every activity of life. We are wavers of the fabric of hope and a better world.

The late Anne McCormick made this statement: "The foundations of the world will be shaky until the moral props are restored." There is a dearth of confidence until those props are restored, and there is a return of world confidence.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Changing Places"

Matthew Adams Service.

THE LITTLE BUILDER
There's a wonderful house in Childhood Land.

A house that is wondrous fair;
Its walls are high and its walls are grand.

For the architect dwelleth there,
For this wonderful house no plans are made;

Of, that wouldn't do at all;
For after the last of the blocks are laid

The architect's work may fall.

There's a wonderful house in Childhood Land.

A house that's a joy to see;
And nowhere's a building that's half so grand

Or even as fair to me.

It's a frail little house and it often falls.

But the builder is undismayed;
And straight from the heap of the crumbled walls

Another house soon is made.

Ah! chubby hands, as now you build
A castle that's bound to fall,
Little you know that life is filled
With houses of blocks for all.

Your houses of blocks when you older grow

Will tumble as now they do,
But I pray you'll arise from the ruins low

With courage to build anew.

Dies After Five Years Of Luxury
MIAMI, Fla. —Ezekiel Dorsey,
a Negro who inherited 7200-000 in 1952 after 56 years of poverty, died yesterday in the swank home he occupied.

Dorsey ran away from home in Palatka at the age of 12 and lived as a migrant farm worker. In 1952 a Miami court ruled he was the long-lost son of the late Dana Asbert Dorsey, who made a fortune in real estate.

Zeke was living in a shack when he came into money.

He moved into a $17,500 home and spent the rest of his life enjoying what to him were luxuries — candy, soda pop and the like — under a court-appointed guardianship.

Queen Elizabeth Continues
To Endear Herself To Yanks
At Many Washington Affairs

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain whirled into the heavy routine of a royal visit today as the easy, charming captor of the affections of the nation's capital.

Today the accents were on culture, benevolence and science — and high society glamor — in a schedule that will keep the Queen and Prince Philip darting in and out of the White House all day long and into the night.

On tap for late afternoon is a garden party at the British Embassy, with champagne, edible knick-knacks and such. About 2,700 people got invitations. This is to be the biggest, flashiest social event of Her Majesty's four-day visit to Washington.

Dazzling Dinner
Last night, the emphasis was on Anglo-American unity and friendship, in toasts exchanged by President Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth at a dazzling White House dinner.

Eisenhower portrayed America, Britain, Canada and the British Commonwealth nations as "marching forward, carrying the flag of unity and cooperation" into a "great successful future that will be ours, that will belong to our children and our grandchildren."

Elizabeth, in reply, asked the assemblage of notables to "drink the health of the President of the United States."

Health To The President
"In commending this toast,"
Her Majesty said, "I pray that the ancient ties of friendship between the people of the United States and of my peoples may long endure, and I wish you, Mr. President, every possible health and happiness."

Neither President nor Queen mentioned Russia's advances in the missile and earth satellite fields. But each may have had them in mind.

"Our scientists must work together," Eisenhower said.

He said it is ridiculous to compare the brains of "our potential enemy," their abilities in science, philosophical thought, or any phase of culture or the arts with the combined total of those of the free world.

New Age Of Discovery
For her part, Elizabeth said that "surely there are many indications today that we are at the beginning of a new age of discovery and exploration in the world of human knowledge and technology."

Yesterday was a sort of get acquainted day for the 31-year-old Queen.

From the minute Eisenhower offered her a "warm welcome" on behalf of all Americans, Her Majesty began charming her way into the hearts of officialdom and ordinary folk in Washington.

Solemn Moments
It was that way through the pageantry of a parade along the broad avenues to the White House, in the solemn moments of honoring America's war dead at Arlington National Cemetery, at a reception by the Washington news corps, and at the formal state dinner at the White House.

One measure of the way Washington liked the demure young Queen was the size of the parade turnout. Police Chief Robert V.
Murray put it at a million—"one of the greatest in the history of Washington."

Greeted By Marjorie
Mrs. Eisenhower stood at the White House door and exclaimed to her royal guest: "My, you look pretty!" Many of the plain people who elbowed their way within sight of the Queen echoed the idea in different words. In tones of delight, they pronounced her "much prettier than her pictures."

And at the dinner the Eisenhow-ers gave in her honor last night, Elizabeth was everything that could be expected of a fairy tale queen—a bejeweled monarch from diamond tiara to the hem of a blue-gray heavy satin gown that complemented the natural roses of her cheeks.

95 Attend Dinner
Pink carnations, a 13½-foot mirror plateau and dinner plates with rims of pure coin gold adorned the table in the state dining room.

Places were set for 95, including high British and American officials and a number of personal friends of the Eisenhowers.

The Marine orchestra, in scarlet uniforms, provided dinner music. After the roast duckling repast, the guests moved to the famed White House East Room for a musicale.

Ambassadors of the British Commonwealth nations joined them.

In advance of the dinner, the Queen and her husband spent an hour in the rain at Arlington Cemetery, placing wreaths of laurel leaves and red and white carnations on the glistening marble tomb of the Unknown Soldier and on the Canadian Cross.

Visit With Scribes
They spent a gay, more informal hour at the press reception in a hotel ballroom. Her Majesty smiled her way through a thousand handshakes and made a little speech that reached the nation by television and radio.

Elizabeth seemed to appreciate the laughter when she remarked to the assembled newsmen and women that she knew her visit "has probably given you a lot of extra work."

Uses Wasp Stings
To Aid Rheumatism
FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Frank Becco, a Fort Scott businessman, went to a nearby lake to clean out his duck blind. He was driven away by angry wasps.

Next day, Lyle W. Amer volunteered to clean out the blind.

"I want to get pretty well strung," Amer said. "It helps my rheumatism."

Becco took Amer to the blind.
Amer got his stings and eradicated
the wasps.

A Fort Scott physician, questioned by a reporter, said the wasp sting contains a neurogenicine toxin which in small doses could alleviate pain through partial paralysis of given areas.

DULLES, LLOYD
MEET TODAY ON COMING VISIT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd meet today to lay the basis for an important conference next week between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan.

The top-level session was announced yesterday in Washington and London with plain intimation that other Allied talks may follow for both Eisenhower and Macmillan.

There was no official disclosure of the problems that prompted the hurriedly arranged meetings, which start Wednesday.

Other Top Topics
It seems certain, however, that the Middle East and relations between the Western powers and Russia, including the atomic missiles race, would be topics of paramount concern.

The nature of the formal announcements suggested that Macmillan had taken the initiative some time ago in seeking the meeting.

Macmillan will fly here overnight Tuesday. The conference will continue through Friday.

Welcomes Opportunity
Macmillan's announcement said,
"President Eisenhower and I have agreed that I should pay a brief visit to Washington next week to discuss world problems which are of active concern to both of us."

Eisenhower, who had welcomed Queen Elizabeth to Washington only about three hours before, said, "I welcome the visit of the British prime minister to Washington next week. It will provide an opportunity for me for useful discussions with an old and trusted friend."

Eisenhower also expressed hope that "there will soon be occasions" when he could meet with "leaders of other free countries associated with us for similar discussions."

Brando's Home Is

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—While actor
Marlon Brando and his new bride, actress Anna Kashfi, were honey-mooning, burglars entered his Hollywood Hills home and made off with items valued at $3,000.

Brando told police yesterday that two cameras, a typewriter, some perfume and jewelry and a filing cabinet containing story

Cop Climbs To 11th
Floor Roof For Arrest

CHICAGO (AP)—Policeman Edward Bourke, who suffers from acrophobia — a dread of great heights — climbed a narrow outside ladder from a ninth-floor ledge to the roof of an 11-story building yesterday to serve a traffic warrant.

Bourke, 48, thus ended a five-month search for William S. Cave-nagh, 27, an electrician. Cave-nagh, who was repairing a big sign on the Illinois Central Railway Building, was charged in the warrant issued May 15 with driving a commercial vehicle on a boulevard. He was booked for appearance in court Nov. 18.

Bullets Oppose Albright In First Home Game At 2 Saturday; Expect Aerials

Two changes in the Gettysburg College starting lineup are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the Bullets square off against Albright in the first home football game of the season.

The work of Carl Schoenborn, 193-pound junior, in recent games has earned him a starting role at guard. He will replace Dick Rowan, 185, junior.

George Greiner, 170, also a junior, will fill Don Hailey's spot at half-back. Greiner has been coming along fast and when Hailey sustained a slight hip injury it was decided to give Greiner his chance.

Stan Musser, senior end, is still nursing a leg injury and his return to action is indefinite.

Coach Gene Haas said today the Bullets were natural, disappointed in losing to Lehigh but it has not affected the spirit of the squad which is determined to inaugurate another winning streak at the expense of the Lions.

Sudock Good Passer
In Frank Sudock, Albright has a fine passer and he will try to duplicate the performance of Lehigh's Nolan who hurled his team to victory over the Bullets last week which snapped a nine-game streak for Gettysburg.

The Bullets coaching staff is expecting plenty of passing from Albright and has been working hard to perfect a defense from the aerials.

Albright has been having a rough campaign and is still looking for its first win. Last week the Lions held favored Lehigh to a scoreless stalemate and had scoring threats stopped on the 5 and 12-yard lines in the first half. Coach John Potokian and his squad feels their luck is due to turn, beginning on Saturday against the Bullets.

Prior to the tie, Albright lost three games as follows: Bucknell 18-0; Scranton 20-0; and Muhlenberg 18-14.

Albright Starters
Coach Potokian has indicated the following will compose the starting lineup:

Frank Hoffman, 196, and Don McCarty, 198, ends; Joe Kremer, 200, and Tony Mazza, 210, tackles; Dick Napolitano, 180, and Norm Ruppert, 190, guards; Tony LoSapio, 185, center; Frank Sudock, 170, quarterback; John Kopp, 167, and A. Benesky, 175, fullbacks, and Gerry Bricker, 175, fullback. Only Mazza is a non-letterman.

Dad's Weekend is being observed at Gettysburg College over the weekend and the band is planning a special half time performance in celebration of the occasion.

Of the 16 stake races run each winter at Hialeah, Ted Atkinson has ridden winners in every feature except one — the Royal Palm Handicap.

TOP GRID TILTS WILL BE PLAYED DESPITE FLU'S WIDE INROADS

The flu germ has cut a heavy swath through the collegiate football schedule for the third straight week. Still, there will be the usual jockeying for position in the upper echelon.

Michigan State, reigning king, enters winless Purdue, and Oklahoma, the shaky but plotting former monarch, plays Kansas tomorrow.

Numerous games have been canceled and many teams weakened by the flu bug. But all the prestige games will be played. In several instances teams which would have been idle because of their opponents' physical condition have agreed to play each other.

Drake, Omaha Cancel
Drake called off its game with Colorado State. Omaha also canceled its contest with Bradley. So Colorado State will play Bradley at Peoria, Ill.

In western Pennsylvania, St. Vincent canceled its scheduled meeting with Waynesburg and California Teachers called off its game with Edinboro Teachers, thus setting up a Waynesburg-Edinboro clash. Wheaton, Ill., scheduled Kentucky State to replace flu-crippled Illinois Wesleyan.

Among other games canceled were Washington and Jefferson, Thiel, Johns Hopkins-Haverford, Rip - Union, Bowdoin - Williams, Slippery Rock-Western Reserve, Washington University (St. Louis)-Western Michigan, Brandeis-Springfield, Alfred-Hobart and Montana Miner-Northern Montana.

Many Teams Weakened
Many major schools also have been weakened by the virus. But no manpower shortage has been reported at Oklahoma or Michigan State. Neither the Spartans nor the Sooners are expected to have any undue difficulty, although Oklahoma has proved at least that it's human in its three victories.

The suspicion that Bud Wilkinson's outfit might get beaten somewhere along the line — plus its relatively weak schedule — undoubtedly influenced the voters in this week's Associated Press poll to send Michigan State to the top.

Last week, Oklahoma had to come from behind to defeat Texas, which had not been rated a problem. 21-7. Meanwhile, Michigan State was grinding out a 35-6 conquest over a strong Michigan outfit.

There are loads of other top games around the country. If Washington State can get by Oregon, the Cougars are almost certain to be elected the Pacific Coast Conference representative for the Rose Bowl.

The Cougars already have licked California and Stanford, so if they get by Oregon, they will have no one else to beat among the eligibles.

Big Battle In East
Army and Pitt are in the thick of the fight for the Eastern championship — mythical though it is. Pitt lost its opener to Oklahoma, but has won three in a row since. Army is hoping to rebound from its defeat by Notre Dame last week.

In the South, possibly the biggest game is the Auburn-Georgia Tech affair. Undeclared Auburn has its eyes on the Southeastern Conference championship.

Louisiana State, still in the thick of things, plays Kentucky in a league game.

Other Big Ones
In the Big Ten, two of the pretenders to Michigan State's throne Minnesota and Wisconsin, play important games. The Gophers go against Illinois, while the Badgers journey to defending champion Iowa.

The big one in the Southwest Conference is Texas A&M, No. 3 team in the country, against Texas Christian. Arkansas, which might give Texas A&M a run for the league crown, meets Texas.

Duke, No. 5 in the country behind Minnesota, plays Wake Forest in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Other leading games: EAST-Villanova at Boston College, Penn at Brown, Yale at Cornell, Columbia at Harvard, Dartmouth at Holy Cross, Vanderbilt at Penn State, Colgate at Princeton.

DAMAGES TO PCL BY MAJOR LOOPS TO BE DECIDED

By JACK STEVENSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiations to determine damages to be paid the Pacific Coast League by National League teams taking over the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas are expected to start Nov. 1.

That's the next big step in the move West by the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers. It could bring some heated debate.

A spokesman for the Giants, already in town as the San Francisco Giants, said representatives would be at the PCL annual meeting starting in Sacramento Nov. 1.

Need League Approval
Proposed transfer of the San Francisco PCL franchise to the Giants from the Boston Red Sox in return for the Minneapolis club of the American Assn. needs league approval.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants is expected to head the delegation that will seek PCL approval. At the same time it was indicated the whole, knotty question of damages may get its first full airing.

Emil Sick, owner of the Seattle Rainiers, declared last night he would oppose transfer of the San Francisco PCL franchise unless the Giants and Dodgers "get down to business with us" on damages. Transfer approval requires six of the eight PCL votes.

Not Yet Approached
President Leslie O'Connor of the PCL said neither the Giants nor the Dodgers has approached him on the matter of damages. The only time he mentioned money figures was in saying previously that damages in recent realignments have been $50,000 per club.

"If anybody thinks we'll settle for $50,000 per club, they'd better wake up," said O'Connor, an attorney. He has also challenged legality of baseball's setup of arbitration on such matters.

BROWN COACH HINTS EAGLES STARTED FIGHT
CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul E. Brown, still concerned about the rough stuff that nearly turned last Sunday's game into a riot, didn't come right out and say it was the fault of the Philadelphia Eagles.

But he told a local radio audience last night that National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell knows the Cleveland Browns were not responsible for starting the fight.

Seven players were ejected during the game, which the Browns won 24-7, and players from both benches swarmed onto the field in the fourth quarter to join in a wild melee.

12th Loss For Eagles
It was the 12th straight loss for Philadelphia, going back to last season and including 1957 exhibitions, and Brown said even the Philadelphia coaches were a "little frantic."

He said before the game the Philadelphia coaching staff protested that the sealskin brown jerseys worn by the Browns made it hard to keep track of the ball. The protest was taken to Bell by phone, Brown said.

First Such Protest
The coach said it was the first time since he had been coaching professional clubs that anyone had protested the color of the uniforms.

A ball with white stripes—the type used in night games—was used during the Browns-Eagles encounter. The uniforms were not changed.

The Browns and the Eagles have a return match scheduled for Sunday at Philadelphia, and Bell has said he will watch the game, Bell said last Sunday's game on television, but he didn't see any of the fistfights because television cameras, by Bell's own order, are turned away from such displays.

IL MAKES MOVE TO BECOME 3RD MAJOR LEAGUE

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — With the far-flung International League indicating a desire to retrace and then drive for major status, this part-time big league city today found itself a jumping off point in baseball's continuing battle of shifting franchises.

Home of the Brooklyn Dodgers for 15 games during the past two seasons and for years an IL salient before the Jersey City Giants moved out in 1950, this metropolis of 300,000 is just a healthy peg across the Hudson River from New York City.

And that's undoubtedly where IL President Frank Shaughnessy was looking yesterday when he announced from Montreal that the league would move back into Jersey City in "the first big step in becoming a third major league."

To Replace Havana Or Miami
New York, now a one-team city since both the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants have announced moves to the West Coast, has only the American League Yankees to draw from a metropolitan population of 15 million.

The IL, a Triple A circuit, claimed Jersey City to replace either Havana or Miami, both of which suffered losses at the gate this season. Other teams in the league are Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Richmond and Columbus, Ohio.

"Becoming a third major league has been our goal all along," Shaughnessy said. "I don't know how long it will take, maybe a year, two or five, but we are on our way."

Good Baseball Town
"Jersey City is a good baseball town with a fine ball park which has adequate parking facilities. With television and radio receipts we could almost guarantee any club a successful operation."

Asked about reports of a possible future IL move to New York, Shaughnessy said:

"At the present time Brooklyn is still the Dodgers' territory and the Giants, too, are in New York until they make their peace with the Pacific Coast League. After they leave it becomes the territory of the American League and the rules would have to be changed in order to claim either one."

In New York, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said the matter of territorial rights in the New York area would be tabled until the Giants and Dodgers have come to an agreement with the league.

Junior Hi Game Postponed Until Monday At 7 P.M.

Postponement of the Waynesboro-Gettysburg Junior High game, scheduled for here Thursday evening, was announced late Thursday by George Forney, local athletic director. The game was rescheduled for Monday at 7 p.m.

Inclement weather was the main factor in the postponement while the move was considered as precautionary against possible further illness among students.

CALHOUN IS PICKED TO WIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Rory Calhoun, the middleweight division's strong man, is a 3-1 favorite to beat clever, elusive Rocky Castellani at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 10-rounder between the 23-year-old beller with the bulging biceps and the fleet-footed seasoned Castellani headlines the first fight show in the Garden since last March. Evangelist Billy Graham, an ice show, the rodeo and other assorted events have occupied the arena.

If there's going to be any thrills, it will be up to Calhoun to provide the action. The 30-year-old Castellani, once a top contender but now unranked in the 160-pound division, is a boxer who relies on his left jab and hook, an occasional right clutching arms and a fast getaway. It may not be an exciting style but it has helped build up his 65-12-4 record.

A pro only three years, the husky contender from White Plains, N.Y., has racked up a 29-2-1 record, including 15 kayos. Castellani has only 16 kayos in 81 fights.

Rocky now lives in Atlantic City, N.J.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast by NBC at 9 p.m., EST.

RACING
CAMDEN, N. J. — Willie Hartack, who has his sights set on Eddie Arcaro's record of 40 stakes winners in one year, extended his total number of victories for 1957 to 309 by bringing in four winners at Garden State Park. Hartack scored with Irish Love ($11.80) in the feature.

NEW YORK — Venomous ($16.60) took the $25,150 Interborough Handicap at Jamaica's opener.

PCL But Jersey City has always been considered open territory, he added.

Herman Taylor Is Given New License
SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission has granted a new boxing promoter's license to Herman Taylor of Philadelphia, who says he plans to bring big-time boxing back to the Quaker City.

James Crowley, chairman of the commission, said yesterday efforts to have Taylor's license withheld were based on alleged incidents of misconduct which took place before his fictive date of the State Athletic Code.

Taylor, a longtime promoter in Philadelphia, had let his old license lapse. He was formerly associated with the International Boxing Club and expects to renew the connection.

Gettysburg College's soccer team won its second victory, against a tie, by trouncing Georgetown University 5-1 at Washington, D. C., Thursday afternoon before about 200 spectators. No rain fell during the game.

It was a team victory all the way as all played well. Farquhar and Emich scored for Gettysburg in the first period, Emich added a penalty boot in the third and Farquhar and Koven kicked goals in the fourth frame. Zorali tallied the Hoyas' only point via a penalty kick in the first period.

The house lights dimmed, the director raised his baton, and the music of Brahms flooded the auditorium. Suddenly I was lifted into a world of sheer beauty and harmony. When the last notes of the symphony died away spontaneous applause greeted the director and the musicians.

What a thrill it would be to play in a great orchestra, I thought. Each instrument must be perfectly in tune, but until they play together there can never be the harmony or the volume of a symphony.

That's the way it is with life. We may strive to find joy and beauty alone. But only when we tune our lives with our Creator do we discover the abundant life.

Then united with fellow Christians in the Church, with Jesus Christ the Leader, we discover beauty and harmony, not only in this life but for all eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER

I Corinthians 9:1-2, 13-23, 26-27

Key Verse: "How are men to call upon him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him of whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without a preacher?" Romans 10:14.

In matters of church organization and policy Paul was always very practical. When he gave advice to the congregations he established, it was usually from his own knowledge and experience, not theoretical or "out of the book." Because of his more advanced training he was better able to put into clear, concise words the interpretation of Christ's Gospel. That is the reason Jesus confronted Saul on the Damascus Road; He needed Paul in establishing the Church.

The last several lessons have covered church problems which existed in the Church at Corinth and Paul's advice on how to handle them. There were factions in the Church there, some preferring Apollos as pastor, others Paul, and some Peter who represented Jewish-Christians. Paul was firm in his reply that laborers in God's Kingdom come and go, but that a common faith in Jesus Christ as the supreme Head of the Church brings unity. Jesus Christ and Him crucified to redeem all men is basic to all of Paul's teaching.

Paul Was Criticized

Naturally there were some members of the congregations who criticized Paul, accusing him falsely of making a good thing out of his ministry. This brings us to a discussion of the high calling of the ministry. Paul's remarks on the ministry have become the basic New Testament standards. They are characterized by a love and concern for men, not by superior knowledge. Some of the matters which Paul brings to the attention of the Corinthian Christians are: (1) the marks of a genuine apostle; (2) the rights of an apostle; (3) the sacrifices of an apostle; and (4) the self-discipline of an apostle.

An apostle is a missionary who has received a direct commission from the living Christ. Any true minister of the Gospel is supposed to receive a call from God to enter this sacred profession. Just what constitutes a "call" is much debated in our Protestant churches.

Paul makes it quite clear that he is no hireling and receives no remuneration for his services, not that it isn't his right but that he preferred to support himself by his old trade. Then he poses the question which was generally accepted procedure with Jews and Greeks alike: "Do you not know that those who are employed in the temple service get their food from the temple, and those who serve at the altar share in the sacrificial offerings?" The Christian minister has the right to receive a portion of such gifts which are to provide for the church to do its work effectively and to provide spiritual help and guidance for its members. This is entirely legitimate and releases the minister to give his full time to the service of the church. The amount of financial support needed by pastors varies widely according to economic standards in the community in which he serves.

Ministry Demands Sacrifice

The ministry demands sacrifice — of time, effort, financial security. Paul shows how a Christian minister must impose certain restrictions and restraints upon his personal activities for the benefit of the entire congregation. Thus he restrained from eating meat sold in Corinth's stores not because it had been offered to idols, but rather because of his influence on others. He said, "If food is a cause of my brother's falling, I will never eat meat, lest I cause my brother to fall."

No true minister expects material rewards. Therefore many young men neglect to enter the ministry, knowing that they cannot accumulate much of the world's goods. According to Paul a minister is not true to his calling unless he finds no peace without devoting all his time and energy to proclaiming the Gospel.

"THE LESSON OF THE MIRROR"

WGCT (1450 kc) Sunday 8:15 a.m.

Moonlet Losing Race Around World With Rocket Associate

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Sputnik appeared to be losing its race around the world with its rocket-companion by 23 minutes Thursday. It appeared that the rocket, dropping closer to earth—and into a smaller orbit—was moving ahead in its relative position in the sky.

Three moonwatchers on the roof of the Harvard Observatory thought they saw the smaller Sputnik trailing the much-brighter rocket at approximately 5:17 a.m. EST. The rocket had been sighted at 4:52 and at 4:54 reached the same point in the sky where Sputnik was later observed.

A slight haze and the brightening dawn made all three observations Thursday morning extremely difficult according to Marshall Melin, moonwatch coordinator.

Others See Sputnik
Ralph Stevens of Arlington, looking through his moonwatch telescope said, "I definitely saw something copper-colored" cross the field of view.

Richard Elliott of Stoneham said he thought he saw a "pin dot" move across the field of his scope. Hugh Armo of South Natick also thought he saw Sputnik.

All these times were at—or close to—5:17 a.m.

They will be checked later against an automatic electronic recording of the time.

Sputnik has been reported trailing the third-stage rocket almost since its launching by Russia nearly two weeks ago.

This is the first time three watchers in the Boston area placed it so far behind.

Light Fluctuates
The rocket Thursday was again sighted in the northwest sky and tracked as it passed just above the star-group known as the Pleiades, or "Seven Sisters," and then past the constellation Orion. Its light fluctuated a great deal.

Dr. George Van Biesbroeck, astronomer-emeritus from the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, joined the watchers Thursday. He thought the variation in light was partly caused by the rocket changing in position as it tumbled in space about 275 miles high. A high haze also contributed to the fluctuation.

Dr. Van Biesbroeck, an expert on the orbits of rockets, has been called in by the Smithsonian Observatory staff to aid in calculating the orbit of the Russian moon.

Several evening sightings of the speeding rocket were reported last night, for the first time, in the Greater Boston area.

Saw It From Yard

Dr. John Patterson, director of the Hayden Planetarium at the Museum of Science, said he saw the rocket from the yard of his home in Newton Centre at 6:29 p.m. EST.

He said he was on the lookout for it because his own calculations showed it should be visible. It was visible for about four minutes, he reported.

The Rev. Daniel F. Leahy reported he saw the rocket while he was in suburban Arlington. He said he first spotted it at 6:30 p.m.

Other reports of evening sightings were forwarded from the Springfield area in western Massachusetts to the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge.

In View In Several Weeks
Scientists at the observatory said they could not be positive the sightings actually were of the rocket. Their timetable estimate was that the rocket would not be visible in this area during the evening for several weeks.

Both the Russian satellite and the rocket which launched it into outer space are circling the globe. The rocket has been clearly visible during the dawn because of its bright color. There have been few sightings of the satellite itself, however.

Scientists said the rocket is now 14 minutes—or about 4,200 miles—behind the satellite.

Forges Ahead Daily
Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Observatory, said the rocket is pulling 300 miles farther ahead of the satellite each day. He said the rocket is traveling in a smaller orbit than the satellite and may fall to the earth sooner.

A week ago the rocket's maximum distance from the earth was estimated at 583 miles. Now, Whipple said, it is about 550 miles.

Whipple also said the observatory has received unofficial reports from amateur observers of a double object being seen when the Russian rocket passes, but that the evidence is not yet strong enough that the rocket has split into two sections.

Dr. Armand N. Spiz, he observatory's coordinator of visual observations, said sightings indicate the rocket is still intact, but he advised moonwatch stations that "more than two objects may be visible."

Dr. Van Biesbroeck, an expert on the orbits of rockets, has been called in by the Smithsonian Observatory staff to aid in calculating the orbit of the Russian moon.

CLARK SAYS HE FOUND SUPPORT FOR DEMOCRATS

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) said Thursday that on his "grass roots" tour of Pennsylvania in recent weeks he found a solid sentiment for Gov. George M. Leader as the Democratic nominee for U.S. senator next year and Philadelphia's Mayor Richardson Dilworth for governor.

Clark said his opinion was based on talks with both Democratic party leaders upstate and rank and file Democrats, and businessmen and Chamber of Commerce groups.

Clark said support appeared particularly strong for Dilworth for governor.

"The people I talked to without exception were hoping he will run," Clark said in a telephone interview.

Dilworth Noncommittal
Dilworth has not committed himself mainly because he would have to resign as mayor to make the race. This was made necessary by Philadelphia's new city charter which, ironically, was made law after a hard struggle in which Dilworth and Clark were leaders.

Clark said he also found a grass roots movement for Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman as the Democratic nominee for governor.

He is popular and well-liked but the general opinion seemed to be that Dilworth could get more votes, said Clark.

Clark said the people with whom he talked seemed pretty well in accord that Leader will run for re-election. Sen. Martin's (R-Pa.) seat since he is limited to one term as governor by the state constitution.

In GOP Territory
"I think they all respect him," Clark said.

Plan Harrisburg College Center
HARRISBURG (AP)—Three college presidents and the provost of Temple University today outlined preliminary plans for a graduate and post-graduate night school program here to be known as the Harrisburg Area College Center.

They met with a group of 50 central Pennsylvania educators and civic leaders in a general discussion of the program.

The tentative plans call for use of combined facilities of central Pennsylvania colleges and universities, Pennsylvania State University, Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania into a single college for the Harrisburg area.

Those participating in the discussion with the central area group were Dr. A. C. Baugher, president of Elizabethtown College; Dr. Frederic K. Miller, president of Lebanon Valley College; Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Penn State; and Millard E. Gladfelter, provost of Temple.

His travel through the state will end on Election Day, Nov. 5, after which he will take a month's vacation in Europe. He will return Dec. 4 to conduct congressional hearings on housing legislation at Portland, Maine, and at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

ALASKA BRIDGE FALLS IN RIVER
TAYLOR, B.C. (AP)—Left without support when the shale crumbled beneath a 25,000-ton anchor block the north span of the four-million-dollar, 2,200-foot Alaska Highway suspension bridge crashed into the Peace River Wednesday.

No one was injured and 3,000 persons watched as the 465-foot section buckled and dropped with a tremendous roar, seven hours after engineers had noted the northern anchor was sinking.

The collapse cut the main highway into Alaska but traffic—amounting to some 200 to 300 vehicles a day—was quickly rerouted to a small ferry 10 miles down stream.

The bridge is 600 miles north of Vancouver, B.C., and 40 miles northwest of Dawson Creek, B.C., starting point of the highway.

ARMY SERGEANT IS INVOLVED IN RED SPY TRIAL

NEW YORK (AP)—Microfilm introduced as evidence in the trial of Rudolf I. Abel contains a Russian claim they recruited for espionage work an American Army sergeant—still on active duty—while he was stationed with the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

A message on the microfilm, assertedly found in a hollowed-out bolt, was read to the jury yesterday in Brooklyn Federal District Court, where Abel, 55, is on trial for spying for the Soviet Union.

Named in the message was Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes, 40, who has been stationed at Ft. Myer, Va.

Rhodes Is Witness
Rhodes is on the list of government witnesses. Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. William F. Tompkins, asked about Rhodes' role in the case, said: "When he takes the stand next week you'll find out more about it."

The trial has been adjourned until Monday.
At Rhodes' home in Eatontown, N.J., today his wife termed evidence linking her husband with Soviet espionage as "just a big lie."

Mrs. Rhodes said the sergeant presently is in New York City but she did not know where or how to reach him.

Lived in Moscow
Mrs. Rhodes said she had lived with Rhodes in Moscow when he was attached to the embassy, adding: "It's the biggest frameup I've ever seen. I don't know how they ever did it but it must be serving some purpose."

The microfilm message said Rhodes had lived in Red Bank, N.J., and owned three garages there. Said Mrs. Rhodes: "We have never lived in Red Bank. And if we had three garages, I wouldn't be working all the time." She declined to say where she worked.

Married 17 Years
She said she and Rhodes have been married for 17 years and have an 8-year-old daughter. He has been in the Army for 15 years.

The FBI said the bolt containing the microfilm message was found last May 12 in a box containing loose nuts, bolts and screws at the home of Reino Hayhanen in Peekskill, N.Y.

Hayhanen, 37, confessed Soviet spy, defected to the West last May. He has been the government's star witness in the trial of Abel, who he claims was his espionage boss in this country.

Marshal Zhukov Leaves Yugoslavia

He left in a Soviet military plane for Tirana, capital of Communist Albania.

Without going out of its way, President Tito's government gave Zhukov the treatment required by protocol for a visiting defense minister from a sister Communist state. The treatment matched that the Russians gave Yugoslav Defense Minister Ivan Goshnjak when he visited Russia last June.

Mike Todd Takes Boat Ride Today To Explain Big Party

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Todd, party giver extraordinaire, takes a boat ride today to explain what happened last night.

His ballyhooed "innate" gathering for 18,000 chums, he admits, ran into a few "unforeseen difficulties."

The show, televised in part to a nationwide audience, was a hodgepodge of blaring bands, prancing ponies, deadspots and flying frankfurters that Broadway won't soon forget.

"We've Been Had"
"We've been had," commented one veteran showman as the guests, a glitter cross-section of the entertainment world and cafe society, moved through the exits of Madison Square Garden.

Many left soon after the formal program ended at 11 p.m., but other thousands of the restless, fidgety throng lingered to dance and partake of a strange buffet of pizza pies, doughnuts, ice cream, beer, champagne and hot dogs.

Todd, a showman who leaves little to chance, set up his explanatory boat ride today a few hours before the party went on.

To Extend Comments
Invited along for an excursion steamer outing up the Hudson River was a cross-section of the writers and editors who sat in on the grim Garden doings.

Todd said he wanted to "chat"—and perhaps expand the comments he publicly made over the loud-speaker system as soon as the televised part of the program ended.

"The whole spirit of the idea tonight is to have fun," he proclaimed. "We had a few unforeseen difficulties. Maybe they added to the carnival spirit."

Lis There Too
"I hoped things would run smoother. But some nights are better than others."

Beside him as he spoke was his wife, film star Elizabeth Taylor, who presided at the cutting of the vast pink birthday cake which stood in the center of the arena floor.

The celebration was a first anniversary tribute to "Around the World in 80 Days," the first picture showman Todd ever made. It won five Hollywood Oscars.

Emcee Had Trouble
The formal entertainment was largely limited to the 90 minutes of television—although one band got proceedings under way early with an appropriate initial offering of "Just One of Those Things."

Mike's show turned out mostly an endless walk around the arena of processions costumed in frontier clothes, Siamese tinsel and folk dresses. Occasionally there were peewee fire engines, Sir Cedric Hardwicke precariously riding an elephant, and a miscellany of beer trucks, covered wagons and a rubber-tired locomotive.

Frequently there were competing orchestras, blackouts of lighting and murmurs from emcee George Jessel of "Somebody throw me a cue." No one ever did.

Police Outside
At one time a clown capered in a spotlight in one part of the arena while an orchestra played an tribute to the late Arturo Toscanini.

A distraction during distribution of the refreshments was discovery by the Todd press staff that some of the bottles of champagne provided for the occasion were being sold for cash to guests.

Outside, a heavy cordon of city police kept sightseers under control. One arrest for attempted gate crashing was reported.

Inside, the party dragged its way to a windup.

EDUCATIONAL PARADISE
HONOLULU (AP)—Women outnumbered men two to one at the summer session at the University of Hawaii. There were 2,799 women to 1,478 men.

Non-resident students included 1,057 students from 45 states. There were three students from Alaska.

STILL HELPING
RICHMOND, B. C. (AP)—J. A. McAllister, 30-year-old teacher who was stricken with polio last fall, is teaching again this year, from a wheel chair.

Taneytown School News

Senior Day, attended by all Seniors of Carroll County, will be held at Westminster on Thursday morning, October 23. The purpose of the program is to assemble all Carroll County Seniors, charge them with their responsibilities as Seniors, help them evaluate their progress to date, and "challenge them to do their best during the months that remain." Following a social hour in the cafeteria, a program will be given in the school auditorium. Robert Clinegan will represent Taneytown on a panel. Parents of Seniors are invited to attend.

The Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow Test will be given to interested Senior girls on December 3. The test will deal with all phases of homemaking. Four national winners will receive scholarships ranging from five to two thousand dollars.

The school has been notified by Proctor and Gamble that sixty four-year scholarships will be awarded this year by their company to qualifying graduates or Seniors, boys or girls.

Fear Exchange Of Firing At Border

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is concerned lest a "miscalculation" start a spreading war in the Middle East, Vice President Nixon said yesterday.

He explained that an exchange of gunfire across a border might spark large scale fighting and involvement of affected countries and their neighbors. That is "the thing we fear in this situation," he added.

He expressed his views at a press conference before flying back to Washington after making a speech at the International Industrial Development Conference here Tuesday night.

DEFER NIXON'S TRIP ABROAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced Thursday that Vice President Nixon will defer a trip to Europe until after adjournment of the next session of Congress.

That means Nixon probably will not leave for Europe until late next summer or early in the fall.

The White House announcement said Nixon had planned to visit various European countries late this month and in November.

"However, it has not proved practical to work out such a visit which would be responsive to the invitations received and at the same time allow him to return to meet commitments in the United States later this year," the White House said.

"Accordingly, the vice president is deferring his trip to Europe and plans to make this visit after the adjournment of the next session of Congress."

Foods won't burn on a GAS Burner-with-a-Brain

You know the awful feeling when you first discover hopelessly burned food! But NOW, GAS ranges have a top burner with automatic heat control—the Burner with a Brain. It won't let food burn. It keeps food at any cooking temperature you want—never hotter!

Just dial the proper cooking temperature. A little sensing unit feels the temperature of the pan. When it's exactly right, the flame goes down. If it's too cool, the flame comes up—all automatically.

HALF OF IRBM TESTS MADE BY U. S. ARE GOOD

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — About half of the intermediate range ballistic missile tests made by United States weapons so far have been rated successful.

The others ranged from complete failures, such as burning up on launching pads to erratic flights in which the test devices had to be destroyed before they had flown very far. And the only two reported tests of an intercontinental ballistic missile were virtual failures.

On the scientific side of the American rocket program, duds and delays also have occurred. During the last year, men at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., ballistic missile test center have pushed firing buttons on missiles or missile-like test vehicles a total of 13 times.

Results Exceed Estimates
Six of the "birds" flew high and far, with results meeting or surpassing advance estimates.

Seven of them didn't. But technicians and scientists insist that even some of the failing missiles provided valuable development data before their brief seconds in the air ended in explosions or fires.

A much larger number of missiles and test vehicles remain to be fired.

Wednesday, the Air Force admitted that it has been unsuccessful in four attempts to fire a research rocket up to 4,000 miles in the air. The rocket was to be launched from a balloon floating 100,000 feet over Eniwetok Atoll, in the central Pacific.

This time, the rocket isn't blamed. The Air Force says "unfavorable atmospheric conditions" kept the balloons from getting into the desired positions. In two instances, the rockets were fired, with the hope of obtaining at least

Friday the 61st annual two-day convention of the State School Directors is scheduled to address the secretaries are Dr. Allen Wetter, superintendent of Philadelphia Schools, and Rep. John P. Saylor (D-Pa.).

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, will address Friday's opening meeting of the directors' convention.

Some data even though the balloons weren't up to intended height. Two rockets remain and the Air Force will try again.

COURT REJECTS MOVE TO OUST SCHOOL TROOPS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The federal-state conflict over racial integration at Central High School remained in a stalemate today as the seventh week of classes drew to an end.

As they had since Sept. 24, armed soldiers under federal command paced the sidewalks around the massive building where a handful of Negroes pursue their studies among nearly 2,000 white pupils.

Yesterday, a suit aimed at getting the soldiers removed was thrown out.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ronall N. Davies dismissed a petition which asked for a three-judge court to order the troops away.

However, Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock, the attorney who filed the petition for a member of the segregationist League of Central High Mothers, said an appeal would be made.

Charges Impeachment
Coffelt charged that Davies' dismissal of the petition while a decision to name a three-judge court was pending constituted "ample grounds for his impeachment."

Gov. Orval Faubus hinted that the state might enter the case and refile the suit.

Coffelt filed the suit Oct. 2 for Mrs. Margaret Jackson, vice president of the Mothers' League.

Named as defendants were Col. William A. Kuhn, commander of the 101st Airborne Division troop contingent on duty at Little Rock, and Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commander of the Arkansas Military Dist.

The suit asked that the officers be enjoined from policing, occupying or otherwise interfering with Central High School property or operations.

Davies' dismissal order, dated Oct. 15 and received by the U.S. District Court clerk's office yesterday, said the petition was "in all things dismissed for lack of jurisdiction upon the ground that it raises no substantial federal constitutional issue."

Standard jelly glasses come in a variety of shapes in six-ounce and eight-ounce sizes.
